

Announcement of Spinoza Bibliography Online

We want to draw your attention to the Spinoza Bibliography Online which has recently been established under www.spinoza-bibliography.de.

Here you find more than 5.000 entries of the works of Spinoza, monographs, articles and reviews since 1653 up to the present. As the work on this bibliography has been started in Germany, German titles prevail at the moment. But since autumn, 2007, a network (Spinoza Bibliography Online Network = SBON) of about 15 collaborators from different countries / languages continually contributes to the bibliography.

The editors of the bibliography would welcome your collaboration in order to arrive at a more and more comprehensive documentation of Spinoza research, both past and present, worldwide.

You can contribute by

- sending bibliographical descriptions of your own publications on Spinoza or your editions of Spinoza's works, according to the masque; please, try to fill in as many of the categories as possible;
- sending bibliographical descriptions of other titles you come across during your research;
- informing us about corrections or completions of entries already registered in the bibliography, by e-mail.

The more you will contribute, the more useful the bibliography will be for our own purposes.

In the name of the Editorial Team
